Design & Layout: Mohammed Ali Khan Dear All,

The month of November added glitters to the glory of 'Aurora'. Aurora's PG College (MBA) has been accredited with 'A' Grade and Aurora's PG College (MCA) has been accredited with 'A+' by National Assessment an Accreditation Council (NAAC) rewarding the efforts of the institutions in the maintenance of quality in various parameters prescribed by NAAC. This further proves that the institutions are striving for quality in all aspects of their functioning. The Graduation Ceremony "Samaroh" is organized to felicitate the student performers along with their parents with Gold Medals and Merit Certificates for their exemplary performance in academics. The students actively participated in a survey conducted by "Vox Populi" a multinational market research organization. Workshops on 'Tally' and 'Taxation' were conducted to the students to equip them with the industry requirements. As a part of social responsibility, the students of NSS visited the schools we have adopted and organized various activities to the children of the schools on the occasion of 'Children's Day'. They also have participated in a 10k Run intended on creating awareness against cancer, organized by Yashoda Hospitals, Hyderabad. The month of November also witnessed a good number of publications and paper presentations by the faculty members. We convey our sincere gratitude to all the stake holders of the institution, who have been instrumental in the success that 'Aurora' achieved and earnestly request to continue the patronage forever to enable us to serve the society better and better.

Best Wishes....

Generation Z-Digital Natives

Children and young adults born anywhere between 1995 and 2010- known as Generation Z but also known as Centennials, iGeneration, Post-Millennials and Plurals, This cohort is considered to be the first true digital natives, growing up with mobile devices, tablets and laptops in both hands. Researchers say that if you look at the brains of our generation Z students and compare that with a brain of a child from 20 years ago you can see a physical difference. The part of the brain that is responsible for our visual ability is far more developed in generation Z when compared with other generations. The researchers attribute this change to that fact that Generation Z are born with a mobile device in one hand and a laptop or wifi console in the other. As a result it is believed that Generation Z will prefer visual learning over the other styles of learning (kinaesthetic, auditory. The main objective of pedagogy is to inspire, nurture and encourage young minds to question and absorb information, and to develop skills and intellect that provide the best stepping stones into their futures. Gen Z are described as individualistic, they value easy access to information and expect immediate feedback. They learn most effectively when they are left to solve problems and find solutions. Gen Z clearly has different learning preferences, goals and values to previous generations. Generation Z will learn more effectively if they are left to solve problems and find solutions. Arguably, digital technology is neither distracting nor exciting for Gen Z, it is normal life. Our youngest generation is immersed in technology, and it has been proven they learn most effectively from interactive tools and digital practices. However, as we've seen, there is certainly a strong argument to retaining traditional pen and paper in the classroom. We aren't likely to see paperless teaching just yet. The answer, then, is a hybrid of both. Certain subjects and lessons require contrasting practices to engage pupils. Importantly, Generation Z are less impressed by the technology itself, the subject knowledge and practices behind these digital tools is the key to inspiration. If technology in the classroom isn't underpinned by sound educational techniques, it will fall short. Generation Z's learning needs reflect an evolving world, particularly in view of new technology and digital communication. Much like other industries and modern business environments digital tools are an enhancement to traditional working methods, not a replacement. On one hand, traditionalists believe that digital teaching methods are a distraction from the core information being taught, and that pupils are less focused or challenged when presented with exciting, modern technology. Digital evangelists, however, believe technology is essential to interactive, collaborative learning in the modern classroom. Ultimately, some students will continue to work better with traditional pen and paper, and some will engage more with interactive digital platforms like Class Flow, depending on their subject preferences or personal skills. As unique individuals, children have different needs and preferences, there is no onesize-fits-all answer. The bottom line is that forward-thinking digital technology and interactive tools in the classroom cannot detract attention from the importance of traditional pedagogy and a strong teacher-student bond. The energy and enthusiasm put into the subject matter and the teaching methods to engage young Generation Z students is key to inspiring their minds, regardless of the medium.

Guest Lecture on "Importance of exercising voting rights to take a stand against corruption"

Corruption is a form of dishonesty or criminal activity undertaken by a person or organization entrusted with a position of authority, often to acquire illicit benefit. Corruption may include many activities including bribery and embezzlement. Corruption ranges from small favors between a small number of people (petty corruption) to corruption that affects the government on a large scale (grand corruption) and corruption that is so prevalent that it is part of the everyday structure of society including corruption as one of the symptoms of organized crime. Corruption and Crime are endemic sociological occurrences which appear with regular frequency in all countries on a global scale in varying degree and proportion. Individual nations each allocate domestic resources for the control and regulation of corruption and crime. Strategies to counter corruption are often summarized under the umbrella term Anti-Corruption.

To promote ethics among the students and ensure civic responsibility, a guest lecture on "Importance of exercising voting rights to take a stand against corruption" was organized by Youth for Anti Corruption, an NGO established to create a corruption free society on 22^{nd} November, 2018. The event started with the address of Mr. Rajender, Secretary, YAC, followed by the speech of Dr. Ravi Shankar, ENT Specialist. Finally the gathering was addressed by Mr. Akuri Murali, IAS, Director General who was the Chief Guest spoke to the students about the various aspects of how politics affects the development of a country. Dr. Rajender spoke about corruption, the various areas in which it is happening and how it affects the development of a community. Dr. Ravi Shankar spoke that this year of 2018 is witnessing a huge number of voters and has been named as the "millennial voters" hence this generation has to take the voting decision very seriously. He highlighted that this year more number of voters are in the employable stage of life. Hence voting for the right candidate is very important. He stressed that each and every voter should go through the respective websites, read and understand the mandates and about every candidate who has given his nomination for the elections. He highlighted the various changes brought about by the election commission and the tremendous effort they are putting into corruption free voting and protecting the rights of Indian citizen by introducing NOTA.

Mr. Akuri Murali, Retd. IAS, Director General, Telangana State Archives enlightened the students about India's position in Human Development Index 2018. He spoke about the position of India in the Human Development Index and the parameters that are considered at the international level for development. He spoke about how the international arena looks at India. He pointed out that eradication of two things from India is very important, one is caste system and the other one is emotional living and decision making. For this education and information are vital tools and application of the information in the right sense has the power to change situations. To do this he added that every citizen must cast his/her vote to improve the political environment and contribute to the development of the country. Students of MBA and MCA attended the session.

Workshop on "Introduction to Financial Markets

In recent years, financial markets have undergone some of the most rapid and extensive changes in all areas. With the development, this has been fostered by the liberalization of markets, rapid technological progress and major advances in telecommunications, has created new investment and financing opportunities for businesses and people around the world. Easier access to global financial markets for individuals and corporations will lead to a more efficient allocation of capital, which, in turn, will promote economic growth and prosperity. Other interesting developments in world financial markets include the continued broadening and expansion of derivatives markets. The broadening of these markets has largely come about because rapid advances in technology, financial engineering, and risk management have helped to enhance both the supply of and the demand for more complex and sophisticated derivatives products.

To educate the students and create awareness about the trends in the financial markets a workshop was organized on "Introduction to Financial Markets" in association with Karvy Consultants, Hyderabad from 21st November, 2018 to 23rd November, 2018 by the placement cell. Ms. B. Veena, Technical analyst, Fundamental Research the resource person covered all aspects of Indian financial markets, major financial products taxation and regulations.

The workshop focused on the following areas:

- Securities
- Derivatives
- Financial products
- Managed funds
- Taxation
- Regulation

At the end of the workshop, written exam was conducted to test the proficiency of the students. Study Material as well as participation certificates were issued to the students. Around two hundred and sixty students of MBA II Year participated in the workshop.

A Workshop on Taxation

Taxation is important to the functioning of any economy, usually bringing in the vast majority of the revenue a government will have available to utilize. It typically involves a number of key skills, including legal interpretation and analysis, calculations and providing advice. Taxation is an extremely important subject both from an individual as well as organizations perspective. To provide basic knowledge on business taxation, a workshop was organized on "Implications of Goods and Service Tax System" for MBA I Year students. The workshop was held on 13th and 14th of November, 2018. The resource person Mr. M. V. N Acharya, CEO, Network for Information and Computer Technology (NICT) highlighted the procedures and computations of taxation in a simplified manner and enabled the participants to gain basic knowledge of business taxation. He also explained the fundamental laws relevant to taxation so that students become aware of the possible remedies in case of tax assessment.

The following were covered as key topics:-

- 1. The design of GST
- 2. Main features of GST law
- 3. Administration and IT network
- 4. Benefits of GST and way forward

At the end of the workshop all the participants were given certificates and taxation content CD's. Around Two Hundred and Fifty students have participated in the workshop.

International Students Day

International Students Day is a celebration of multi-culturalism, diversity and cooperation among the students across the globe, observed on November 17th every year. Students are the building blocks of any nation. They are the future generations whose knowledge marks the nation's development. It is a global celebration day for the student's community that celebrates the multi-culturalism, mutual assistance, and diversity among the students globally. International Students Day originally commemorates the attack of Nazi German in Czech Universities in which more than 1,200 students were sent to the concentration camps, and many others were killed.

To make the students realize and understand the importance of the democratic education and a democratic society "International Students Day" was observed on 17th November, 2018. To know about the life of students, their education and how to make them build a stronger nation the professional club has organized a Debate competition on this occasion. Two students from each section debated vehemently in favor and against the motion. The listeners were mesmerized by the confidence exhibited by the debaters as they voice their opinion on the topics. It was an erudite experience for all the participants and students who witnessed the debate.

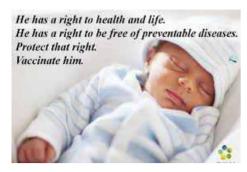

The competition was coordinated by Ms. M. Subhashini, Associate Professor, Department of Management, Mr. Shanazuddin, Assistant Professor, Department of Management. It was evident that the teams were well prepared and they used various skills like over statement, irony etc. Although all the ten teams exhibited great oratorical skills but finally the three teams were declared winners.

The winners of the competition are as follows:

S. No	Student Name	Section	Course	Prize
1	Sravya Gowthami	А	MBA I Year	First
2	P.Akshay G.Swathi	А	MCA II Year	Second
3	V. Veekshana Sudha	A	MBA I Year	Third

Infant Protection Day

Infant Protection day is an international observance day which states that any baby born is to be legally considered a person and thus need to be protected by receiving medical attention. Celebration of this day is a step towards the day when every child is welcomed in life and protected in law. It is a step towards the promises of the declaration of Independence will apply to everyone, not just those with the voice and power to defend their rights. Celebration of this day reflects on the responsibility of the parents, family members and the society towards the protection of the newly born infants.

To promote responsibility towards girl child and develop a caring attitude among the girl students, "Infant Protection Day-2018" was observed on 17^{th} November, 2018 by Women's Club-Anvitha. To remark this occasion a skit activity on "Caring, health and protection towards infants" was conducted for students of MBA, MCA and I-MBA. Altogether, five teams consisting of eight members in a team participated in the skit and performed to show the need for care and protection of infants.

Every Day And Every Night,
When You Feel The Need
To Hold Me Tight
Just Blow A Kiss Into The Sky,
For I Will Be That Close By
In The Heavens Throughout The Day,
I Watch Over You And Hear You Pray
I See You Smile And Shed A Tear,
For You Know That I'm Still Near
I'm The Angel Of Your Eye,
Your Angel In The Sky

Diya Decoration

Diwali is the "Festival of Lights" and one of the most festive and beautiful times of the year. Diwali originated in India as a celebration of lights, in fact the word Diwali comes from "Deepavali", means a "Row of Lights." It is a time when Indians all over the world rejoice. Diwali is one of the most popular festivals of Hinduism, its spirituality signifies "The victory of the light over the darkness", "Good over the evil", "Knowledge over the ignorance" and "Hope over Despair". The celebration of this festival mainly includes millions of lights which will be shining on the house tops, near doors, windows, and in countries where ever it is observed. The date of the festival is calculated according to the position of the moon and the Hindu lunar calendar and is usually in October or November. Diwali is also marked with fireworks and the decoration of floors with rangoli designs. Food is a major focus with families partaking in feasts and sharing sweets. The name and celebrations of this festival vary significantly among Hindus. In various parts of India, the Diwali festival starts with Dhanteras on the very first day, Naraka Chaturdashi on the second day, Deepavali on the third day, Diwali Padva on the fourth day which is specially dedicated to wife-husband relationship & the last day is Bhai-Dooj which is dedicated to sister-brother bond.

Diya decoration competition was conducted on 6th November 2018 by Cultural Club-Aroop to create an ambience of Diwali festival. As many students are from different regions of India the Diya decoration competition created a home like atmosphere for them. MBA, MCA and I-MBA students have participated and presented beautifully decorated Diyas section wise within the stipulated time of one hour. As Diyas symbolise knowledge, happiness, peace, wisdom, truth and prosperity, the students were enlightened with this in an innovative way by giving a boost to their creative side through Diya decoration. Prizes were distributed for the best Diya decoration teams.

As a part of this survey, an opinion poll was conducted by students in Hyderabad Assembly Constituency through field work. Around 239 students of MBA have participated in the survey.

Ford Motor Company is an American multinational automaker headquartered in Dearborn, Michigan, a suburb of Detroit. It was founded by Henry Ford and incorporated on June 16, 1903. The company sells automobiles and commercial vehicles under the Ford brand and most luxury cars under the Lincoln brand. Ford also owns Brazilian SUV manufacturer Troller, an 8% stake in Aston

Martin of the United Kingdom, and a 49% stake in Jiangling Motors of China. The company is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and is controlled by the Ford family; they have minority ownership but the majority of the voting power. Ford introduced methods for large-scale manufacturing of cars and large-scale management of an industrial workforce using elaborately engineered manufacturing sequences typified by moving assembly lines; by 1914, these methods were known around the world as Fordism.

Connecting people across the world in the familiar embrace of warmth, sentiment and lasting emotion is what we set out to do a decade ago. Over the last few years, our small steps have resulted in us creating a capability of connecting people across 185 countries. Over 13 million people and 4 million gifts later, we still remain excited about the endless expanse of human emotions. Expressed in wines flowers gift baskets and more. Across several age groups, we have had a small but vital role in strengthening the tug of love, respect and endearment. Mother's Day, Father's Day, Christmas, Valentine's Day to everyday, we stand by the side of everyone who wants to make a little gesture and connect with each other.
